NUMBER 31

The leaders of the Democratic party at Washington are becoming alarmed at the Republican success in the South. The Democrats can find enough on all hands to give them discouragement.

General Beauregard has nearly completed his history of the rebellion. Almost every rebel general needs a history of his own to prove that he was not in anywise responsible for the defeat of the rebel armies and the wreck of the Confederacy.

Miss Ida C. Sweet, of Chicago, has been renominated by the President to be pension agent at Chicago. There was a strong effort to defeat her, but her excellent management of the office and the good sense of the President, defeated the scheme.

The Aurora, which was seen on Sunday night, and which attracted so much attention, is said, by Professor Holden, of the State University, to have been the most remarkable one ever known, and as a splendid exhibition of the kind it was hardly ever surpassed.

In Wyoming Territory, women vote under the new constitution, and Governor Hoyt, formerly of this State, says, in his annual message, that under the new law, they have better laws in the Territory, better officers, better morals, and a higher social condition of things than could otherwise exist.

A report comes from St. Louis that the grand jury at St. Joseph, found an indictment against the Ford brothers who assassinated Jesse James, for murder in the first degree, and that about an hour later the brothers were brought into court, pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to be hanged on the 19th of May. The promptness with which this end was reached, will surprise many. By some it is believed that Governor Crittenden has promised them a pardon, thus justifying the assassination, while others believe and hope, that the sentence of the court will be carried out.

P. S.—Since the above was put in type, a report says that Governor Crittenden has granted a full pardon to Charles and Robert Ford.

In the North American Review for May Carl Schurz treating of "Party Schemes and Future Problems" presents many well-considered observations which cannot fail to interest in the highest degree that large and growing class of citizens who refuse to be influenced by obsolete party cries. "Days with Longfellow," by Samuel Ward, contains personal reminiscences of the beloved poet just deceased extending over a period of forty-five years. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, in an article entitled "What does Revelation Reveal?" seeks to prove that the objections brought against the Bible by modern unbelievers are based upon a misconception of the true intent and scope of the sacred volume. Lieutenant-Commander Goring writes of "The Navy," with abundant knowledge of its needs, and with a degree of frankness almost, if not quite, unprecedented in the naval service. W. H. Mallock, the well-known English essayist, in the first of a series of "Conversations with a Solitary," very ingeniously contrives to put the advocates of democracy and modern progress on the defensive. Finally, Gail Hamilton contributes a paper, "The Spent Bullet," in which science, the pulpit and the law are with exquisite wit taken to task for the part they respectively played in the Guiteau-Garfield tragedy.

THE THIRD WARD ELECTION.
The result of the special election held in the Third ward on Monday, to elect an alderman to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. George W. Hawes, is one over which there is great rejoicing in the city. The contest was one in which a great deal of feeling was thrown by the friends of both candidates. During the day there was very little outward demonstration, no noise, but a great deal of quiet, hard work. The old Democrat workers who had been in the harness for years and scattered in all the ward were called into action yesterday by Mr. Valentine's opponent, and every possible effort made to carry the election. They bragged defiantly about the victory they would win, and with an imperious air they boasted of the "drubbing" they would give Mr. Valentine. Then followed mere real earnest, down-right, solid work that had been seen at any election held in the Third ward for a long time, and those who were going to drub the young man, got the drubbing.

There were 283 votes cast, 21 more than at the election on the first Tuesday of the month, and 70 more than at the gubernatorial election last fall. Mr. Valentine's majority was 19, a result that is as flattering and significant as it is well deserved. The Third ward has elected for alderman a gentleman in word and action, and one who will thoroughly represent his constituents, and will do as much hard work for the sole benefit of the ward as any one who could have been selected. The congratulations showered upon Mr. Valentine on Monday evening is an indication of the general good feeling which prevails in the city over his substantial victory.

Not For a Fortune.
"Phew," I wouldn't marry her if she'd a fortune. Poor girl, she'd be all right if she took Spring Blossom, the best thing in the world for offensive breath. Price 50 cents, trial bottles 10 cents.

THE CHINESE BILL.
WASHINGTON, April 17.—The passage of the Chinese bill this afternoon, under a suspension of the rules—by a vote of 201 to 37—was the first successful step in the programme and the unanimity was even greater than was expected. The Democrats were not particularly satisfied with the prompt decisive action, and would have provoked debate had that been possible. The Farley amendment to the old bill forbidding Chinese naturalization and the Grover amendment, which included both skilled and unskilled laborers in the prohibition, were incorporated in the new bill. Favorable and prompt consideration is expected in the Senate, but it is predicted that the two features retained are not acceptable to the President. The immediate friends of the bill do not credit this.

THE NORTHERN LIGHTS.
YANKTON, D. T., April 17.—There was visible from this locality between 9 and 10 o'clock last night the most remarkable phenomenal developments of electric lights, aurora borealis, or northern lights as sometimes called, ever known to the oldest inhabitant. The rapidly ascending rays, northeast and west from the horizon to the meridian, with the bright rose-red hues and wavy movements, resembling heat and lightning that seemed to fill almost the whole heavens, rendered the scene most inspiring and sublime beyond the language of mortal pen. From 11 to 12 o'clock it was almost as light as day, and people remained up to witness this most remarkable celestial phenomenon.

THE RACINE TRAGEDY.

Special Dispatch to The Sentinel.

RACINE, April 17.—The feeling against Hardy Clifford for the killing of Captain Pugh seems to have subsided somewhat. Sober second thought has come to the rescue, and Clifford is, in all probability, safe from the mob. There is, however, a deep undercurrent of feeling that may, within a few days, come to the surface, and then a re-enactment of some of last night's scenes may take place, with disastrous results to the prisoner. The high esteem in which Captain Pugh was held by all classes of society in Racine, of course acts against any explanation of Clifford's action being offered. The killing is universally spoken of as a cold-blooded, unprovoked affair. A friend of the deceased said today that he was a free, open-hearted, brave fellow, that never wilfully wronged a fellow creature in his life. You had but to gain his friendship and you had in him a person who would hesitate on no occasion to risk anything to assist you were you in trouble.

Evils to be Avoided.

Over-eating is in one sense as productive of evil as intemperance in drinking. Avoid both, and keep the blood purified with BURDOCK BLOOD PURIFIERS, and you will be rewarded with robust health and an invigorated system. Price, $1.00; trial size, 10 cents.

POISONED HER LOVER.

RACINE, April 17.—Susan Kaitz was arrested and lodged in jail to-night on a charge of having stolen $29 of John Mainland, a young man to whom she was to be married in one week. It is claimed she invited him to supper, and poisoned a cup of tea, which he drank. They then went out for a walk, when he fell to the sidewalk from the effects of the poison, and she robbed and deserted him. He was discovered and carried home, and a physician was called in time to save his life.

A WRETCH'S WORK.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 17.—A Herald special from Fremont reports that on Sunday an unknown tramp went to the dwelling of Theodore Marshky, in Riley township, while the older members of the family were at church—only the son, aged 13, and a daughter, 11, being at home—and, after ransacking all the rooms for valuables, poured powder on the floor, and then with an uplifter ax compelled the children to bend over the powder, which he lighted, and then fled. The boy was shockingly burned about the head and face, and the girl about the body. The people of the neighborhood are greatly excited, and threaten to lynch the tramp if caught.

ASPHYXIATED.

OSHKOSH, Wis., April 17.—A servant girl in the family of H. C. Russell, named Nellie Morrissey, was found this morning unconscious from asphyxia and almost dead, a small gas-jet which she had left burning having sufficed in the night. Two physicians have been working over her all day, with little hopes of saving her, but to-night slight hopes are entertained.

Milton.

—On Wednesday evening Miss Clara M. Dunn gave an eloquent entertainment at College chapel, being assisted by a sextet composed of R. H. Samuels, Bb clarinet, E. Davis, Bb cornet, C. M. Post, solo alto, A. W. Allen, solo tenor, D. F. Brown, baritone, and O. G. Bennett, tuba, and Alice and Jennie Dunn. The talented young lady was greeted by a large audience of her friends who were liberal in their applause, and gave her careful attention. Miss Dunn makes an impressive and pleasing appearance on the stage. Her voice is strong and gave evidence of much improvement since her last public appearance here, showing that her training, at the hands of Prof. Chas. Roberts, of New York, has been of great value in developing her talent. Her gestures are very graceful and appropriate and her facial expression very effective, in this particular placing her on a par with any one that has ever appeared here. In her first selection, Tom's Little Star, or Art and the Woman, she gave a fine exhibition of her imitative ability and aptness in assuming dual characters. After music of the sextet, she rendered Eagle's Rock in an effective manner. Then came music, and the next selection was The Simple Story of G. Washington. In her assumption of the masculine and juvenile tone Miss Dunn was true to life. In Poor Little Joe the reader gave a fine imitation of the vernacular of the New York street boy. Musically, "B. C.," Alice and Jennie Dunn. The charming manner in which brother and sister sung gained them a hearty encore to which they responded. Shipwrecked was Miss Dunn's next number, and she exhibited much power in its presentation. After music she read Ramon, from Bret Harte, in a pleasing manner, and closed the program with an impersonation—Taking an Elevator at Stewart's Store, and it was a perfect success. Her assumption of the character of an elderly female from the country in the city, was excellent, both in make up and voice. It brought down the house, and in response to a very hearty encore Miss Dunn responded with the laughable story of the German's dog who introduced his candid appraisal into the English of the German in a like style, and added to its effectiveness by the vacuity of her delivery and the rapid change of facial expression and expressive gesture. It was one of the best things of the evening. After music by the sextet the audience dispersed feeling that they had been entertained in a charming manner, and that Miss Dunn is fully competent to give instruction in the pleasing and useful art of elocution.

Kellogg, Cary, Abbott.
Music, poetry, song, painting and sculpture, embody about all there is of man's finer nature and higher aspirations. Each one of the soul's born—each come from the higher emotions of our being, and each speak a language so subtle it masters both intellect and soul, and carries us captive from the finite to the infinite. We gaze upon the creation of the artist's fancy or the sculptor's chisel and we seem to see as rich a picture as that of which Fanshawe wrote:

"Glittering chains, embroidered o'er
With infinite of pearls and finest gold."

Or, listening to the ravishing strains of music most divine, soar far in fancy past the boundary of life, and hear the rustle of the angels' wings of Paradise.

By their influence men are bound in a common brotherhood, and heart is linked to heart by the sympathy which they create for the true, the beautiful and the good. They embody delicate sensibilities which every nature possesses—sensibilities which few can define, but all may feel, and which bridge the gulf of despair with the shining span of hope; which make the dark tomb light with the glow of a beautiful promise beyond.

The man or woman who can listen to the divine strain of song as it comes in purest melody from the throats of such incomparable artists as Kellogg, Cary, and Abbott, and not be stirred by purer and better thoughts, or by a love of something more exalting than the every-day realities of life, has no idealism, and is by nature fit.

"For treason, stratagem, and spoils."

These artists, true types of our American womanhood, stand pre-eminent as the interpreters of that higher class of music which Gounod, Verdi, Bellini, Beethoven, and other famous composers, have given to the world wherewith to worship the Most High, or interpret the varied phases of human nature. The world makes its acknowledgement to high art and genius, and to this trinity of women bows in admiration and speaks in praise. The most intelligent audiences of both Europe and America have listened with rapt attention to the pure musical strains of Cary, the contralto, and Kellogg, the soprano, and when the last notes have died away in the ambient air, by common impulse have applauded to the echo the marvelous songstresses that but just enchain and entranced them.

Abbott, the youngest of the prima donnas, has come conquering with her splendid voice and pretty ways, and if not so famed as her elder co-conspirators, can confidently look forward to the time when the two will hear the plaudits of our consorts over the water, as heartily given as are those which greet her in her title roles in her native city, Chicago.

It should surprise no one, that having three such lovely women and noted artists to the manly born, the astute chief of the passenger department of that progressive railway, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, should name three most magnificent palace cars after these sirens of song.

By merely so doing, he said to the American public, we have something beautiful, which we crown with names indicative of their splendor. No one would for a single moment associate that which is shabby or vulgar with the names of these illustrious women. If the "Great Rock Island" feels honored by the association, Clara Louise Kellogg, Annie Louise Cary, and Emma Abbott, can but reciprocate the sentiment; but we know that the officials of this great company have for these illustrious women the highest respect and regard, else their names would not have been put on the cars, or their features preserved in their adornment. The three magnificent chair cars that have been thus named are worthy specimens of the car-builder's art, for the best and most costly woods have been used in their construction; the pencil and brush of artists have adorned them within and without; the looms of England have woven soft carpets to place upon their floors, and men trained in art have combined the colors which harmonize into the perfect whole.

The man must indeed be captious who can find in shape, build, or finish, one thing about these palace cars that offends the most cultured taste.

Kellogg, Abbott, Cary, the women upon the stage, open to us the fountains of love, soothe the troubled, and lift us to the exultation from which our eyes behold the beautiful.

Kellogg, Abbott, Cary, the cars upon the rails will roll over the track carrying many persons who will get new ideas of what is pretty, and tasteful, and be made happier by the journey, ease and comfort, experience, while fitting over the great prairies of the west, seated in the luxurious chair furnished for their repose; while some of relative turn of mind will associate the "rhythmic music of the rail" with the soft and pleasing cadence of a song and it will soothe the mind to peaceful rest, or, better yet, to train of thought that will elevate and enoble.

The public owe a debt to the Rock Island for making something beautiful enough to wear these names with grace, as well as for remembering these American women, who, by persistent study and energy, have conquered a place in musical history beside Jenny Lind, Son-tag, and Nilsson, and who add to their crown of fame as artists the honored name of noble women.

We take pleasure in informing our readers that by enclosing a three-cent stamp to Foster, Milburn & Co., Buffalo, N. Y., they can secure, free, a set of their fine lithograph picture cards, which are an ornament to any household.

Briefs.

—A free lunch will be served at the Monarch from 9 to 10 a. m.

—Major F. F. Stevens is improving his residence, on South First street, third ward.

—Mrs. John S. Aris is in the city, visiting with her mother, Mrs. M. Davies, for a few days.

—Mr. Robert Slightam, of the State Journal office, Madison, and brother of Mr. John Slightam, is in the city to-day.

—Officer Ed. Smith captured a tramp last night, and this morning, upon a promise to leave town, he was allowed to go.

—The advance sale of tickets for Mr. Keene's Macbeth, will begin at Prentice & Evenson's on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock.

—Colonel Henry Harnden, of Madison, collector of internal revenue for the Second district of Wisconsin, was in the city yesterday afternoon.

—Major Charles W. Stark, of Shiope, was in the city to-day, en route for Dakota, where he intends to locate some land for himself and other parties.

—Two Beloit boys were given a rest at the county jail last night, they becoming very tired and troublesome from the effects of an overdose of Janesville whiskey.

—City Bill Poster Pierson is pasting up some very attractive bills, announcing the coming of the great tragedian, Thomas W. Keene, in the play of Macbeth.

—We understand that the new convention will not be convened until Saturday evening, of this week, at least it is so whispered among the officials around the city hall.

—Mrs. Howard W. Tilton, of Council Bluffs, will make a visit to Janesville in the course of ten days or two weeks. She will be most heartily welcomed by a host of friends.

—Thomas Jameson, of Harmony, brought into the city to-day a very fine three-year-old Norman colt, having sold the same to Mr. Blatz, of Milwaukee, the consideration being three hundred dollars.

—James Smith, a colored gentleman of the first ward, was complained of at an early hour this morning, for raising a disturbance in his family, and was taken to jail by Marshal Hogan. He will have a hearing before the municipal court.

—Peter Reid, brother of Archie Reid, arrived in the city last evening, direct from Aberdeen, Scotland. James Taylor, from the same place, accompanied him. They will remain in Janesville a short time, when they will go to Chicago to engage in their trades, as stone cutters.

—Marshal Hogan has arrested and placed in the county jail, the crazy and ugly looking rag-picker, who has been wandering about the city for the past week, frightening all the little children who came in his way. He will probably be sent to the insane asylum.

—Our esteemed assistant postmaster Miss M. L. Peterson, and Mrs. F. C. Cook, went to Madison on Saturday to make a brief visit, and the following note we find in the State Journal: "Miss M. L. Peterson and Mrs. F. C. Cook, of Janesville, came up to the Capital city, Saturday noon, and returned to their homes again to-day noon. They were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Evans."

—In to-day's Gazette, Henry Hemming & Son, the successors to H. A. Smith, have something of interest to say to all purchasers of boots and shoes. The new firm are receiving a large stock of new and first class goods, and are disposing of their stock at the lowest prices. They invite a careful inspection of their goods, and we cheerfully recommend the new firm to the favor of the public.

—At the special meeting of Washington Engine company No. 1, held last evening, Mr. A. W. Bauman was elected foreman in place of Wm. Brooks, who was compelled to resign on account of ill health. John Foley was elected assistant foreman. J. F. Ehringer, S. Van Buren and Charles Ehringer resigned their membership, and W. Goldsborough, Charles Eller and W. H. Sykes were elected members.

—Clarence Crandall and Edward Magoon, a couple of young men from Beloit, were before the municipal court to-day, to answer to the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The former was given three days in the county jail, and the latter five days. Marshal Hogan telegraphed to Beloit to-day to the owner of the livery, that he could have his property by calling, proving property, paying charges, etc.

—James Galbraith received a dispatch from his brother Archibald, to-day, stating that he had arrived safe at Portland, Maine, but that one of his horses, a Cleveland Bay named "Young Emperor" had died during the voyage. We understand that Young Emperor was one of the best steppers, besides being one of the handsomest horses of that kind in England. The horses may be expected here in a few days.

—The burning of garden rubbish at the residence of Mr. D. C. Ward, this forenoon, caused the out house belonging thereto to take fire, which was totally destroyed. The school children at the second ward school house tried hard to extend the cry of "fire" to the engine houses down in the city, but the alarm failed to reach the ears of any of the firemen. Twenty-five dollars will probably cover the loss.

—A report has been in circulation on the streets that Mr. Levi Alden, of Madison, formerly of the Gazette, had drawn a prize of $1250 from the Louisiana State Lottery, which took place on the 14th of March. Some doubted the truth of the report, but the foundation for the report is the published report of the lottery, which says that the two fourth capital prizes of $2,500 each were sold in halves to Nos. 17,373 and 33,165—to Edward G. Gruet, No. 17 Mulberry Place, Newark, N. J.; to Levi Alden, and collected through State bank of Madison, Wisconsin." This would seem authoritative enough, and probably it would not be "too previous" to congratulate Mr. Alden on his excellent luck.

—At the siege of Vicksburg, in 1863, Colonel Britton had the misfortune to have a horse killed, and he immediately applied to the government for pay for his loss, the horse being his private property. The necessary papers and vouchers were forwarded to Washington and placed in the hands of a claim agent. Time flew on, the war closed and no word or settlement of the claim was received by the Colonel, and he finally gave up all hope of receiving pay for the animal. Yesterday, to his great surprise, he received a letter from the National capital, conveying the gratifying intelligence that his claim had been allowed, but that he would have to wait until next December, for his pay, as a bill would have to be presented to Congress for an appropriation to pay his claim, and it could not be reached before that time. The Colonel is well satisfied, and the matter of waiting a few months for the settlement of an account twenty years old, will not make any difference with his financial business.

Steriotype Exhibition.

This will be for the benefit of Court Street Methodist Sunday school, on Wednesday evening, commencing at 7½ o'clock. Views never before shown in Janesville will be given, such as Jerusalem in her grandeur, Israelites crossing the Red sea, and the destruction of Pharaoh's host, Noah entering the ark, animals and birds in motion, Ancient Athens restored, London, Paris, Rome, Continental Europe, Moscow's great bell, weighing over 200 tons, now used for a chapel, statuary, comics, Raphael's masterpiece "The Transfiguration," and a reproduction of Dufosse's great painting, the "Prodigal Son," valued at $60,000, destroyed by fire in Cincinnati, in 1875.

C. B. CONRAD, Chairman Park Committee.

The report was placed on file.

The clerk read a large number of accounts against the various funds. The bills, with the exception of those belonging to the general fund and fifth ward, were referred to appropriate committees.

Ald. Robinson, from the judiciary committee, reported the result of the Third ward special election for alderman, as follows:

Ald. Nowlan, from the license committee, reported in favor of granting license to A. A. Vivian. Concurred in.

Ald. Nowlan, from the finance committee, reported in favor of allowing a miscellaneous batch of accounts, which was adopted by the council.

A communication was received from the Board of Education, notifying the council of the resignation of B. J. Daly, as school commissioner, from the Fifth ward. The resignation was accepted.

On motion of Ald. Murdoch, the report of the street commissioner was accepted and placed on file.

The clerk presented the bonds and oaths of office of all the officers elected at the late city election, except that of H. B. Kenniston. The list included that of Richard Valentine, as alderman of the Third ward. Referred to judiciary committee.

On motion of Ald. Nowlan the council proceeded to the election of a school commissioner for the Fifth ward. Ald. Potter and Cox were appointed tellers. The result was as follows:

H. Crane received.....2

T. B. Lacey received.....1

A. O. Wilson was declared elected, and that gentleman filed his bond, which went to the judiciary committee.

The council took a recess of ten minutes, pending the making up of the report of the judiciary committee, at the expiration of which, the council came to order, and

Ald. Robinson, from the judiciary committee, reported the bonds of all the officers in due form satisfactory, with oath attached. Approved.

On motion of Ald. Nowlan, Alderman-elect Richard Valentine took his seat at the table as alderman from the third ward.

A communication was received from the board of education inviting the common council and city officers to attend the graduating exercises of the high school, which was accepted.

The minutes of the meeting were then read and approved.

Ald. Nowlan moved, that the council extend to Mayor Lovejoy a vote of thanks, for the courteous, able and impartial manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the council during the past year. The President, Ald. Robinson, put the motion, and it was unanimously adopted.

The mayor in a few timely and very complimentary remarks, returned his thanks to the council, and declared the council adjourned without day.

"The World."

That wonderful spectacular production, called "The World," to be given in six acts and eight magnificent tableaux will begin an engagement of two nights at Myers' Opera house on Wednesday evening of this week. Among the scenic wonders will be the raft scene, covering 10,000 square feet of canvas and occupying the entire stage from wall to wall with its surging waves and terrible realism. In regard to the ability to reproduce these good scenes in places other than large cities, the management gives the public the following card:

It is difficult for a manager who produces a play like "The World" to convince the public that realism in scenic or mechanical effects can be produced on the stages of their small Opera Houses or Halls. Now, I am determined to show to the patrons of "The World" that this can and will be done. As we carry two entire sets of Scenery—and removing all the regular scenery from the local places of amusement—use our own entirely, forming five (5) complete sets in all details, and making it a point of professional honor to give all we advertise.

both in acting and wonderful realistic effects.

The Band Concert.

There was a large audience at Lappin's Music Hall, last evening, to greet the Bower City Band in their annual concert. The programme was a popular one and therefore proved interesting to the listeners and elicited frequent and very demonstrative applause. The clarinet, duet by Henry and Jacob Geiss was among the numbers which won a recall for the players. Miss Hattie Dearborn's regular number was "By the trying tree," which was enthusiastically encored. Miss Gertie Wheeler and Miss Jennie Carpenter rendered an excellent piano duet, which was well received. The fun-making of the evening was confined to those two well-known character song singers—Charles H. Patterson and Henry Murphy. They produced loud applause as a matter of course and were recalled. The Band did some excellent playing as they always do, and the audience attested its appreciation by very flattering applause. Professor Tietcomb was the accompanist of the evening. After the concert a dance followed in Apollo Hall which was quite largely attended. Anderson's full orchestra furnished the music.

The Natives of tropical countries exhibit a passionate fondness for that which is bright, soft and luxurious: the songs of birds, the soothing cadence of fountains, the breath of flowers. Theirardent senses are skilled in selecting those colors and sounds and perfumes which impress most agreeably, and dwell most fondly in the memory. Hence the favor with which the genuine Murray & Lanman Florida Water is received among them, no other perfume being at all able to rival it in the affections of these "children of the Sun."
